P.S.: Uncle Dunk figures that the Reagan Administration has at least accomplished something in their efforts to save some money with our management. For instants, there have been countless hours of patient and hard work go into the preparation of a show animal.

In 1978 the Show became the largest donor of agricultural scholarships in the United States. Today, the Show's commitment to its annual scholarship programs stands in excess of $2.5 million.

Annually, the Show awards 100 four-year scholarships valued at $10,000 each.

These awards are divided evenly between 4-H and FFA winners. Additionally, 20 graduate scholarships, two doctoral students and 60 one year $1,500 awards are made. Thus, the Show annually commits more than $200,000 to this cause of its scholarship program.

On top of all this is the Show's endowed scholarship program. This benefits students who did not receive assistance through the annual program. Primarily of benefit to upperclassmen, the endowed scholarships are made possible by one-time gifts from the Show.

Achieving this rare status of the "biggest and best" show of its kind in the world has required the enthusiasm and support of the nation's fourth largest city. No other event anywhere in the country, seems to match the feeling of civic pride and community support quite like the Houston Show.

Though the Show is known worldwide as a championship rodeo and world's largest livestock show, it is much more. It is a moutage of colorful and exciting events against the background of livestock judging and rodeo competition.

Putting on the Show is a year-long job that involves the time and energy of thousands of volunteers and their commitment and dedication really pays off in the spectacular presentation of activities which surround the Show.

A whirl of pre-Show activities friends of the Show. Whether it's a native born or a naturalized transplant, everyone gets into the spirit of the Show through Go Texan Days.

But, the action really starts a few days before as the Houston Livestock

Show and Rodeo hosts the National Cutting Horse Association World's

the Horse Arenas. With the largest addional money cutting in the world, this event is sure to draw the top cutting horses in the event that is open to the world.

Lot 20 - Sells sale in calf to the great Elefante 226 to calf in the spring of '83. Here is a heifer with lots of substance, pigment and breed character. The way we have her bred should prove very interesting. This heifer should be considered for embryo transplant.

Lot 4 - We think this is the top herd sire prospect we are offering in this sale. 167/4 had a 205 day weight of 610 lbs., 365 day weight of 1,000 lbs., and on January 16th weighed 1,750 lbs. at site. HK's Precincta 67, was many times champion in 1971 and 1972. His sire sold to South Africa for $36,500.00. His sire sold to Madonna Inn Cattle Co. in California for $16,700. We think this is one of the better herd sire prospects in this offering.

81st Annual National Farmers Union Convention
Set Feb. 27-March 2

Waco, January 25, 1983 — Mike Moeller, president of the Texas Farmers Union, announced that the 81st annual convention of the National Farmers Union will be held at the Town and Country Hotel in San Diego, California on Feb. 27 through March 2, 1983.

Elected by the state delegates to the annual Texas Farmers Union convention meeting in Austin, the three sectional delegates include TPU District 3 Director Derel Filligrua of Hico, Tex. Farmers Union Vice President is Rookin of Ralls, and Ed Stidham of Krum.

The theme of the 1983 NFU convention, "United and Strong — Farmers Union" is fitting, National Farmers Union President George Stone said, because it symbolizes the far organization's efforts to tally local rural support for long-term policies of Farmers Union — for a strong, workable farm program to raise and stabilize farm prices; for credit to agriculture at lower interest rates; for exports that are unrestricted and at fair prices; and for programs targeted to help young farmers and protect natural resources and the family farm system.

A highlight of the convention will be addresses by the three men who headed the National Farmers Union for its top post over the past 42 years. Joining Stone, who has served as NFU president since 1980, will be James D. Patton, 80, president emeritus of the National Farmers Union who served from 1940 to 1968, and Tony J. Dechant, 87, past president of NFU who served from 1965 to 1980.

Senator David Boren of Oklahoma will address the convention, as will Congressmen Leon Panetta of California. Both are influential leaders of Congress and members of the agriculture committee of their respective legislative bodies.

Popular actor Eddie Albert will speak to the Farmers Union convention delegates and guests. Albert is an internationally recognized spokesman on conservation, land preservation and other environmental issues.

Crucial issues for farmer-owned cooperatives will be addressed by Merrill Moessner, president of Farmers Union Central Exchange (CENEX), a regional farm supply cooperative which serves 1600 local co-ops and nearly one-half million farm families in 14 states. CENEX had sales of $1.4 billion in 1982 and ranks 285th on the Fortune 500 list.

International trade issues will be featured in speeches by E. K. "Ed" Turner, president of the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool, and by the Hon. Svi Savov, minister of the Bulgarian Foreign Ministry to Washington, D. C.

The most important task for the convention delegates, Moeller said, will be the adoption of new policy guidelines for the National Farmers Union to follow through the coming year. Representing the Texas Farmers Union on the NFU policy drafting committee will be Lyce County Farmers Union President Gary Cook of Wilcox.

"The farm depression is taking a heavy toll on communities throughout rural America. The farm population, new large businesses and new large businesses, major industries, financial institutions and government are all feeling its effects," Moeller said. "Farm income must be raised. It is vital that the policy makers for our organization, the livestock for family farmers, think and act creatively in developing new effective policies to address the serious problems facing agriculture."

Other speakers scheduled to address the convention include Morris E. Thompson, president of the National United Corporation, and Alec G. Olson, administrator of Green Thumb, Inc.

If immigration continues at current levels, it will add 70 million people to the United States population in just 20 years.

New Buildings, Show Set At Houston

Show Feb. 17-March 6

The construction of a 2.0 acre addition to exhibition facilities is the key factor in highlights announced for the 1983 Houston Livestock Show.

Gerhart said the added space will go to the existing arena, we're able to accomplish several things boosting the total Show.

Gerhart said the added space will allow moving poultry and rabbit competition from their Astrohall sites to the northeast end of the arena. This will facilitate spectator viewing and will help to smooth traffic flow in the vast main hall facility.

In 1982, the Houston Livestock Show recorded 1,095,166 spectators, the largest general attendance figures in Show history.

The new construction also creates 260 more horse stalls, bringing the total number to 860. Also included in the building construction is a 160 X 80 foot "warm-up" arena for horse show entries.

In 1982, the Show recorded more than 80,000 livestock entries, once again making it the largest livestock show in the world. Show officials are predicting that the increased space will make for an even smoother-running Show.

"We're excited about the impact this additional space will have on our entries Show," said Show President E. Norwin Gerhart. "By adding some 117,000 square feet to the existing arena, we're able to accomplish several things boosting the total Show."

The new construction is the latest step in the Show's serialized building program. Since 1988, in a five phase building program, the Show has built what are generally regarded as the finest exhibition facilities in the world.

The 18.3 acre Livestock Exposition Building (Astrohall) and the 4.3 acre horse arenas (Astroarena) were built at a cost in excess of $16 million and donated without charge to the citizens of Harris County. The companion allows Harris County to attract the finest in trade shows, conventions and sporting events each year, adding millions of dollars to the Houston economy.

"There's no doubt that the building addition means a lot to the overall growth and continuing excellence of the Show," stressed Mike McQuay, Show Assistant Manager. "It's because of this that we are able to add to Limousin and Simmental cattle breeding heifer shows."

McCravey noted that the Show's long standing relationship with the two Texas purebred beef associations, plus the popularity of these breeds, make them natural additions to the Show's schedule. These two breeds now have a full complement of cattle associations here at our Show — go show breeding beef, market steers and junior breeding heifers."

The Houston Livestock Show again will be the site of quality beef sales that have made the Show renowned in the livestock industry.

"In 1983, we've been chosen as the site of 13 beef cattle and three beef sales, including a Paint Horse sale that's new this year," McCravey said. And, Houston is the site for the National Charolais Show, the International Brangus Show and the International Brahman Show in 1983," he added.

Other changes for 1983 include new important rules changes governing junior livestock exhibitors. McCravey emphasized that junior breeding heifers must be registered in the name of the exhibitor as of November 1, 1982. An exhibitor may enter or barrow for 1983 and summary cards are no longer required for junior show entries.

"All the changes are outlined in a special section of the 1983 Prestige List," McCravey said. "If an open show exhibitor has not received a copy, we encourage him to write or call us for one as soon as possible. Junior exhibitors should contact their vocational agriculture teachers or county extension agents for any information."

Changes also have been made in the calf scramble for 1983. "Winners of calves

can now choose either a beef or dairy heifer for use in the program and certificates will be valued at $600," McCravey said. Prior to this, the heifer who was designated as the "winning" heifer was designated as the "winning" heifer.

Fourteen calves will be awarded at each of the 16 rodeo performances, plus 40 awarded through livestock and dairy judge contests, for a total of 284 calves.

National Wool Growers Name New Chairman

Washington — Norman Rousselot, a sheepman from Seneca, Texas, was elected chairman of the board of directors of the National Wool Growers Association at their just completed convention, January 25-29, in Oklahoma City. "There is a great deal of opportunity in the sheep business," Rousselot said, "and I pledge to do all I can to turn opportunity into profit." Rousselot said that one of his top priorities will be to investigate the export potential for both wool and lamb as a means of achieving greater price stability for these commodities. "We produce two of the float commodities, the all of agriculture and we do it well or better than anyone in the world," the new chairman said. "It's time to develop some overseas markets."

The Foundation is actively engaged with selected county agents in the development of a viable program for many of the area's FFA and 4H chapters. This program is a step in the direction to carry out the theme expressed by the Foundation's president, Andy Andersen, "We firmly believe that the surest way to obtain the needed exposure is through grass root efforts."

Texas Foundation Is Spreading the Words
-Blonde d'Aquitaine

The Texas Blonde d'Aquitaine Foundation, Inc., a state affiliate of the National Blonde d'Aquitaine Foundation, was organized in August, 1981, and incorporated early in 1982. The Foundation is organized for the purpose of promoting the husbandry and scientific breeding and management of the Blonde d'Aquitaine breed of cattle in Texas and surrounding states. Membership is open to individuals, partnerships, joint ventures or corporations actively engaged in the breeding of Blonds d'Aquitaine cattle.

The Foundation, by sponsoring a regular advertising program in the Weekly Livestock Reporter, is spreading the words - Blonde d'Aquitaine - throughout the state of Texas and its neighbors.

The most ambitious undertaking of the Foundation so far was the sponsoring of three very successful exhibits at the San Antonio Livestock Exposition and the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo in February and March, and the Texas State Fair in Dallas during October, 1982. The comments and responses to the cattle exhibited reaffirmed their belief that it is only a matter of time and hard work before this breed is recognized as a leader in the cattle industry. Preparations are in full swing for another successful exhibit in both San Antonio and Houston this year.

The Foundation, since its inception, has been committed to spreading the word about Blonde d'Aquitaine cattle. One of the surest ways to accomplish this is through the

THE MAN WHO IS WORTHY OF BEING A LEADER OF MEN
The man who is worthy of being a leader of men will never complain about stupidity of his helpers, the ingratitude of mankind nor the inappreciation of the public. These are all a part of the great game of life. To meet them and overcome them and not go down before them is to disgust, to discourage and defeat — that is the final proof of power.

Based at Laredo as Director of the Fever Tick Eradication Force since 1977, Boaz will be "coming home" as he returns to his native Fort Worth.

AMERICAN RED BRANGUS ASSOCIATION NEWS

Denver Show Successful

Twenty-five Red Brangus bulls sold for between $1000-2500 while on 'exhibit' at the National Western Stock Show in Denver, Colorado this past month.

"Our bulls were well accepted by mid-west cattlemen and interest was high throughout the show, according to Jim Moore of Running JM Stock Farm. The Red Brangus bulls face tough competition from other breeds already established in this area, but given the chance to prove themselves, they will stand up to the best."

"We were pleased to see bulls sell to cattlemen from Nebraska, Colorado, Oklahoma and New Mexico, especially since the bulls were there for exhibit purposes only," Folo Guerra, partner in Guerra Brothers Ranch in Lima, Texas stated. "Interest came not only from cattlemen in the United States, but from Canada and Mexico."

Red Brangus breeders attending the show and assisting at the ARBA booth were Jim and Mark Moore, Folo Guerra, Mary and Bobby Harris of Stephenville, Texas; Sam and Sherry Fred of Barton Creek Ranch in Granbury, Texas; and Dan and Jack Markwood of North Fork Land and Cat-

Camp Receives Award at Arkansas Convention

Bill Camp of CN Ranch of Casa, Arkansas received an award for role of the top gazing Red Brangus bull during the recent 24th Annual Arkansas Cattlemen's Association Convention in Little Rock.

Camp's bull topped all others at the performance test held at the Southwest Research and Extension Center, University of Arkansas at Hope.

During the convention, several ARBA members informed Arkansas cattlemen about 'the big Red Muley' at the association's booth during the trade show. Members present were Camp, Arval and Thelma Folks of Sallisaw, Oklahoma, and Wendell Thomasson of Apple Farms at Hugo, Oklahoma. Over sixty new inquiries were collected.

Breeders interested in joining a satellite Red Brangus organization serving the states of Arkansas, Missouri, Oklahoma, Tennessee, and adjoining states should contact B. J. Camp at 1601-622-4487.

Red Brangus Breeder Receives Award in Embryo Research

The International Embryo Transfer Society, composed of 600 scientists over the world met recently in Fort Collins, CO, and jointly nominated William Marden of Bryan, TX, and C. Chong, Worcester, MA, for the Pioneer Research Award in the field of Embryo Research.

Marden and Chong collaborated back to the early fifties and successfully transferred fertilized rabbit ovum from one breed of rabbit to another. Dr. Chong, at the Worcester Foundation, would collect the ovum and ship them by air to Combridge, England, where Marden would implant them into synchronized English does.

Since those pioneer days, Embryo Transfer has come into its own. Although Marden is now retired, his oldest daughter, Dr. Baa Marden-McGraw, works for Graeada Genetics in Marquez, TX, continuing his research.

After spending 30 years in the field of Bovine sterility and fertility and running a freeze semen laboratory, Marden, enjoys selling his stock when not required to help his wife Anne with her Red Brangus operation.

Anne Marden, a notable Red Angus breeder for 18 years decided to switch to Red Brangus when offered a chance to purchase an outstanding prime rose Red Brangus registered bull from the Guerne Peppi Gyr line.

The bull has proved to be an excellent investment, throwing with rare exceptions, cold red calves.

The Mardens feel that broadening the Red Brangus genetic pool with outstanding F1 females and males is the best contribution they can make to the Red Brangus breed. Look for some of their animals to be featured at the Spring Spectacular.

Chief Rates "Tops" in Gain Test

Red River Chief, bred and raised by Mike Benzon of JMB Farms in Slaton, Texas, placed among the all time 'greatest' in bull that have been tested at the Cooke County College Beef Cattle Evaluation Center in Gainesville, Texas.

At 18 months of age, Chief's statistics were ADG 4.68 lbs/day, WDA 9.70 lbs/day, an actual weight of 1,285 lbs and a frame score of 8.8. At this he accomplished on a 12% protein feed ration.

Benzen remarked that this performance is especially impressive considering Chief's dam was a first-calf heifer, a daughter of the El Toro Rojo 239/8 cow which recently sold $22,000.

Anne Marden, a notable Red Angus breeder for 18 years decided to switch to Red Brangus when offered a chance to purchase an outstanding prime rose Red Brangus registered bull from the Guerne Peppi Gyr line.

The bull has proved to be an excellent investment, throwing with rare exceptions, cold red calves.

The Mardens feel that broadening the Red Brangus genetic pool with outstanding F1 females and males is the best contribution they can make to the Red Brangus breed. Look for some of their animals to be featured at the Spring Spectacular.

TEXAS LONGHORN NEWS

Texas Legacy Longhorn Sale

San Antonio — On Friday evening, February 25, 1983, the Ornaad Ballroom of the Westin Galleria in Houston will welcome over 1,000 people to the first ever Texas Legacy Show and Sale. This unique black tie event celebrates the romance of the West and features an auction of 60 purebred Texas Longhorns and an Indian and Western artifacts sale.

Co-sponsored by the Y.O. Ranch of Mountain Home, Texas and Red McCombs Ranches of Johnson City, Texas, the Texas Legacy is the first black tie ballroom sale in the history of the breed.

The 60 sale lots are comprised of 20 invitational guest consignments with the other 40 lots coming from the Y.O. and McCombs. The sale's superior Texas Longhorn females are donors and donor prospects and are, without a doubt, many of the breed's finest individuals. Top breeders have consigned animals which represent outstanding bloodlines such as Poeler, Yetos, Butler and others, ensuring the intrinsic value of the animal. Consignors include: Wesley Box; Waymaa Huebner; H.C. Carter; Dave Evans; F. M. Gravas; The King Ranch; J. B. Hunn; Maudean Marks; Mel McDougle; John Robertis; Walter Scott; Happy Bhahen; Cliff Woerner; Chicco Wright; L. V. Baker; and H. C. Lewis.

In addition to the Longhorns, approximately 15 lots of Texas Legacy items, including pistols, antlers, Indian artifacts and more, will sell. Four or five various items will also be auctioned with the proceeds going to, as of yet, unnamed charity. It is expected these items will raise between $25,000 - $50,000 for the charity.

Invitations for the gala event are $100 per person and include the pre-sale cocktail party, dinner and the auction. For invitation information, contact West & Co., 7970 Broadway, Suite 105, San Antonio, Texas 78209, 512/828-5577. Sale management is being provided by Bill West, San Antonio, Texas and Pat Buchan, Fort Worth, Texas. The auctioneer is Col. Eddie Wood, Wynnwood, Oklahoma.

Held in conjunction with the Houston Livestock Show, the Texas Legacy promises to be one of the season's most exciting events. There will also be an investment seminar held the afternoon of February 26, consisting of a panel discussion between

Only the Strong . . . Survive

The Texas Longhorn is here to stay, after its 400 year history of evolution and being brought to the precipice of extinction. The Texas Longhorn has been returned to its place in the cattle industry and is standing on the springboard of tomorrow from which it will launch its contribution to the production of protein to feed the masses of the world.

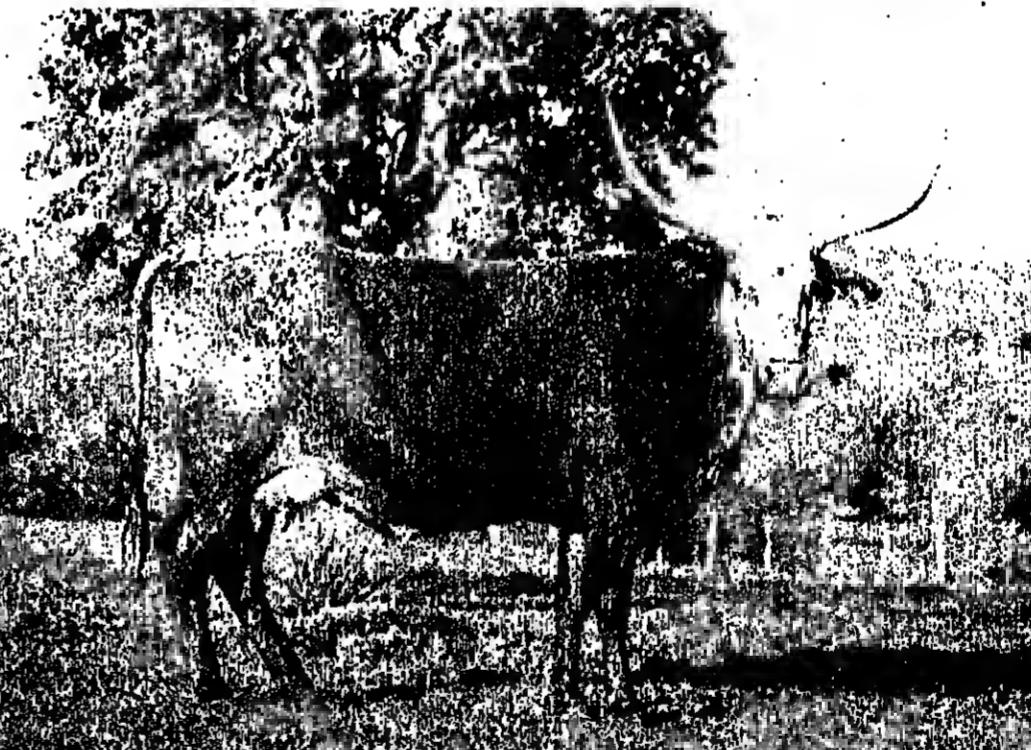

Heifers, of virtually every other breed, placed with a Texas Longhorn bull, will conceive and raise unassisted. The mothering instincts, longevity, browse utilization, and disease and parasite resistance are all genetic traits of economic importance that can be beneficial for the cowman, when infused into their commercial herds.

Metro Texas Longhorn Sales is a marketing group of 12 breeders in the Dallas/Fort Worth metropolitan. In less than one and one half hour, potential buyers can inspect over 2500 head of Registered Texas Longhorn cattle and purchase herd bulls, commercial bulls, heifers, and bred big-horned cows.

The following breeders comprise the Metro Texas Longhorn Sales, and Cheryl Slinkey serves as sales director.
